Effective Friday, March 31, 2017 Jim French Productions has ceased the production of the weekly syndicated version of Imagination Theatre.
Starting in July 2017, new episodes of The Adventures of Harry Nile and The Further Adventures of Sherlock Holmes are being produced on a less frequent basis. These episodes will only be broadcast on Seattle radio station KIXI and they will be available for listening on the Imagination Theatre YouTube channel.

SERIES BACKGROUND:
The Further Adventures Of Sherlock Holmes was produced by Jim French and was concerned with additional adventures of the world's first and most famous consulting detective.

In the early 1990's, Jim French had attempted to write a Sherlock Holmes script to air on The KIRO Mystery Playhouse, but did not complete it. Jim he'd written himself into a corner and set it aside so he could work on scripts for The Adventures of Harry Nile and other projects.

Later, Lawrence Albert was working in Jim’s office, came across the unfinished script, read it, and encouraged him to complete it. Lawrence talked to a mutual friend who knew how to, contact the American lawyer who represented the Doyle estate. Jim spoke with the lawyer, sent him samples of his work, and was granted a franchise to write and produce original radio dramas using the characters Sir Arthur Conan Doyle had created.
Currently The Further Adventures Of Sherlock Holmes (episodes 129 to the present) are aired as part of Jim French’s Imagination Theatre on KIXI in Seattle. It is also heard around the world over the Internet. Effective September 11, 2016 selected episodes of The Classic Adventures of Sherlock Holmes and The Further Adventures of Sherlock Holmes are airing on the Sirius/XM satellite RadioClassics Channel #148.

Previously, the series was heard in the Seattle area as part of Imagination Theatre on KIXI (episodes 034-128), Imagination Theatre on KNWX (episodes 014-033), The PEMCO Imagination Theatre on KNWX (episodes 009-013), and The KIRO Mystery Playhouse on KIRO (episodes 001-008.)

SERIES DESCRIPTION:

As the series title implies, these adventures are not dramatizations of the original Sherlock Holmes stories written by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle. They are rather, pastiches, completely new adventures that remain faithful to the spirit, style, and tone of the original stories. Even Holmes' addiction to cocaine was alluded to in "The Billingsgate Horror" episode. Holmes admits, "My mind needs a stimulant, other than the kind I used to keep in my drawer."

Two episodes of this series are based on Conan Doyle short stories:

"The Adventure of the Parisian Assassin" adapted from "The Lost Special" and

"The Lady Sannox Investigation" adapted as "The Case Of Lady Sannox."

Most of Conan Doyle's Sherlock Holmes and Dr. Watson literature are now in the public domain, however, Jim French has gone to the effort of making an arrangement with the estate of Dame Jean Conan Doyle for the use of these and other characters in his radio dramatizations.

The Dr. Watson character, as played by Lawrence Albert, is no bumbler; he is Holmes' trusted and respected friend, associate, and confidant. Watson often discovers valuable clues that aid in the solving of their cases.

Jim French is especially proud of the salute given his series by the BBC's "Radio 4" programme, which played an excerpt of one of his shows to their listeners in England, commenting with some surprise that all the actors were Americans, and calling it "one of the best radio dramas currently available in the English language."

NOTES:

Lawrence Albert (a.k.a. Doctor Watson) supplied me with the following background on this new episode.

When Jim French Productions ceased operations in March, 2017, there was a Sherlock Holmes pastiche script that had not yet been produced. Due to an operational error, it could not be recorded for airing prior to Jim French Productions ceasing the syndication of Imagination Theatre. In April, 2017 John Patrick Lowrie and Dennis Bateman were asked to come in and lay down the voice track. On July 6, 2017, the good Doctor was able to finish the posting (Post Production Work) on the show. As Jim French Productions no longer had any broadcast outlets, the new episode was placed on the Imagination Theatre YouTube web page. It was later broadcast on KIXI on 09/09/2017.
